Stem-O-lytic is a broad spectrum, proprietary blend of eight diverse and powerful natural senolytic compounds to not only encourage selective apoptosis, but to add to support your body's natural immune system in clearing out toxic cellular debris. This process facilitates the production of new replacement stem cells, which may result in increasing longevity or delaying the effects of aging.*

The Problem with Cellular Decline

Cells divide and maintain replacement cells so that the body can grow. Once a cell has reached its maximum division rate and degenerative decay, it becomes senescent. Senescent cells then emit a mixture of toxic molecules marking them for elimination by the body's immune system to allow for continued cellular regeneration. Scientists observed that cells have a limited number of divisions before they become dormant or senescent.

Under normal conditions—and through a process called apoptosis—these cells naturally die off and are destroyed by the immune system. However, as we age—and due to immune system deterioration and certain environmental conditions—these senescent cells can hang around and emit toxins that can affect normal cells. This build up of senescent stem cells can have a negative impact on healthy systems and can accelerate the aging process.

If senescent cells are like an old building, consider Stem-O-lytic and its ability to encourage apoptosis as the wrecking crew. Once done demolishing the building, all kinds of debris remain, preventing the construction of a new building. Encouraged by the support of Stem-o-lytic, the immune system cleanup crew can come in to clear the rubble.*

This process takes about two days. Thus, it is recommended to take Stem-O-lytic every other day.

Stem-O-lytic Super 8 Complex

Quercetin is a natural flavanol compound derived in phytosome form, for easy absorption in the bloodstream that can support a decrease in the number of senescent cells.*

Fisetin is considered one of the most powerful natural senolytic compounds and has been known to promote longevity.*

Sclareol Extract has been shown to have tremendous apoptotic support without damaging healthy cells.*

Apigenin is a flavonoid that is found in many Chinese medicinal herbs. Specifically, Apigenin has many compelling physiological functions, including support for promoting apoptosis.*

Curcumin is a highly effective ingredient that supports apoptosis, encourages the immune system to function optimally, and is thought to be especially effective for brain health.*

N-Acetyl Cysteine supports the production of glutathione, which plays an important role in the body's detoxification process and with regenerative antioxidant similarities that can bolster the immune system and support apoptosis.*

Piper Nigrum (black pepper) aids in the absorption of the other Super 8 Complex ingredients and has powerful apoptotic support for the immune system.*

Pyridoxine is an effective ingredient that supports the body's naturally programmed cellular processes (apoptosis).*
